Chrome Users:

The Google Chrome browser has a built-in default PDF reader, which is fine for viewing PDFs but does not work well for PDF forms.

One of the issues that we are noticing is that while Chrome does allow for interactivity, such as allowing the user to fill out form fields, it does not process things like submit buttons. Another issue is that it does not put any form inputs into memory, so if you view the form in the browser, and fill it out, you CANNOT then download the form with the data you input.
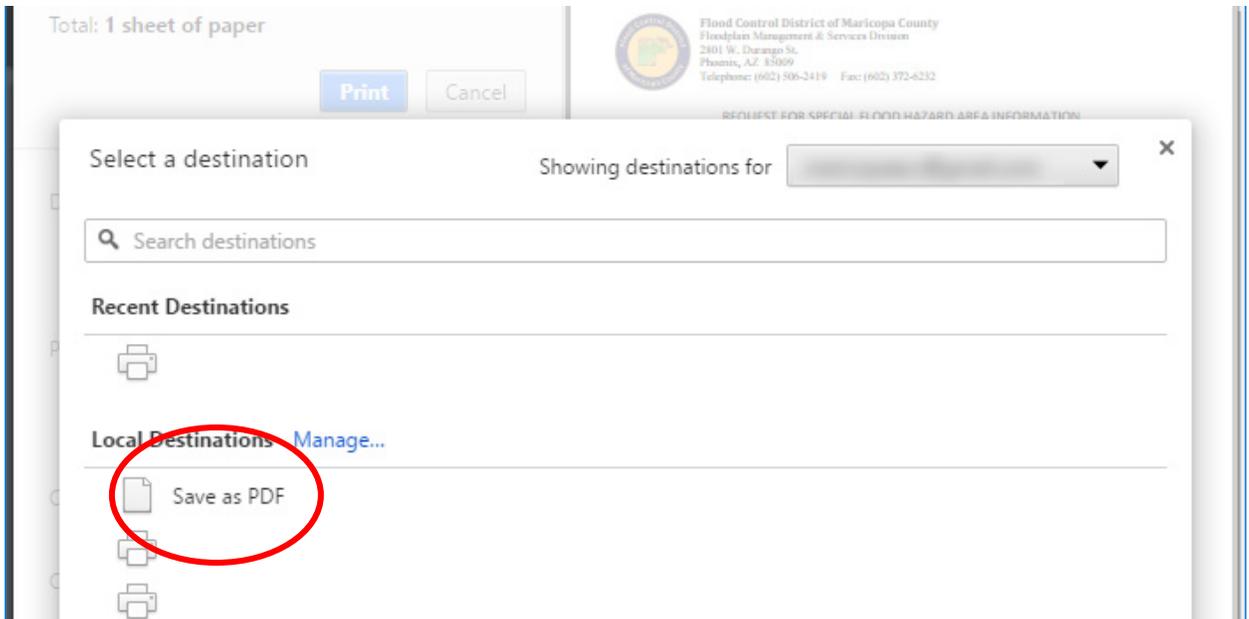

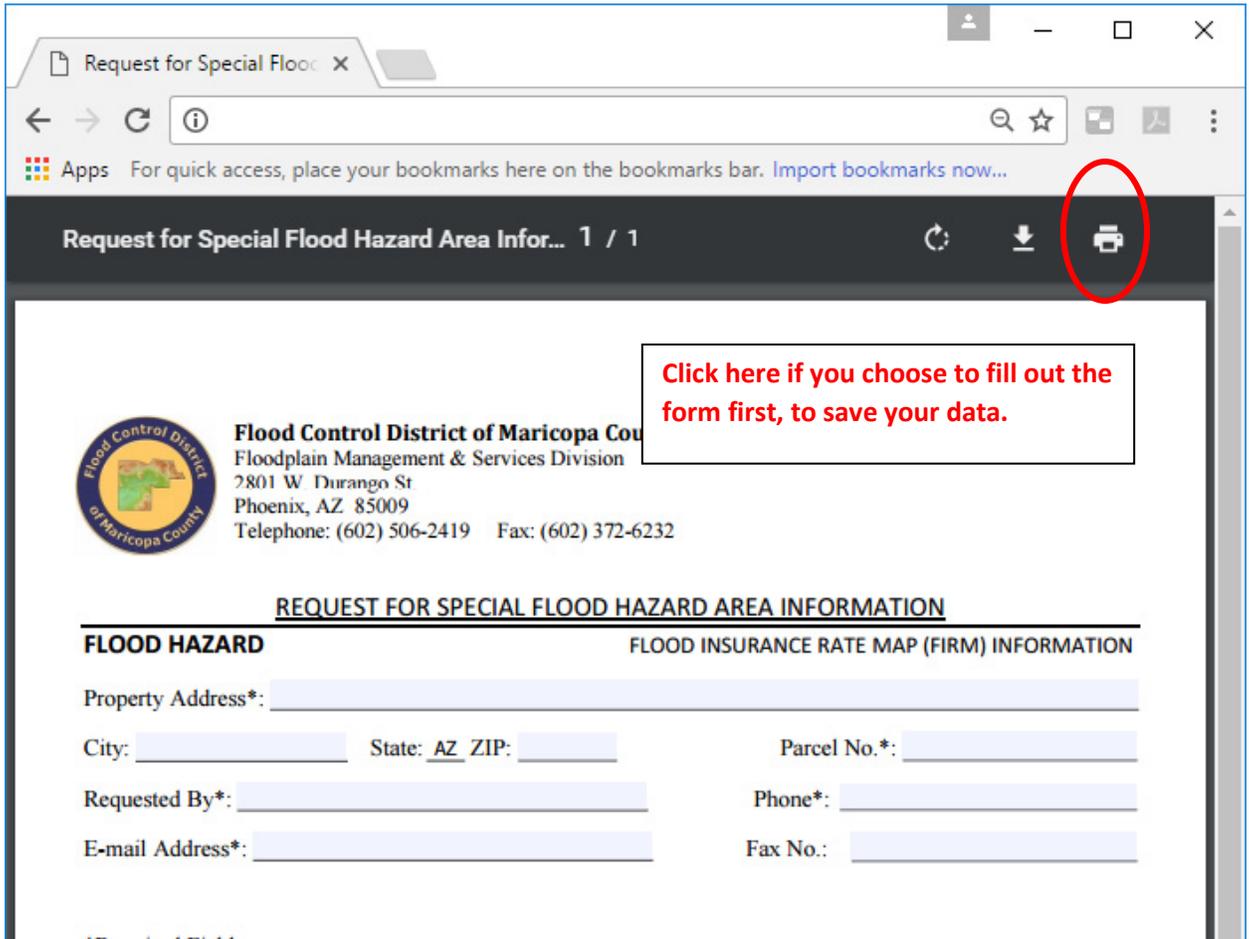

To email us the form you will either have to:

1. download the form first, via the button at the top, and then open it in a separate application, such as Adobe Reader or Foxit. Then fill out form, save it normally, and then send it to forminfo@mail.maricopa.gov. -- See below --

After opening the file in the browser, immediately click the download button at the top of the window.

2. Alternatively, you can fill the form out in the browser, and then select the print button to "Save as PDF". Then email the saved file to us.

The Flood Control District provides information on Special Flood Hazard Areas (commonly known as 100-year floodplains, or areas with a one-percent (1%) or greater chance of flooding in any given year). Information is from the current published Flood Insurance Rate Maps (FIRM) and any pending floodplains the Flood Control District has knowledge of.

To obtain this information in written form, please fill out the above request for information. You may fax or e-mail this request to the following:

Fax: (602) 372-6232   E-Mail: firminfo@mail.maricopa.gov

Once you have sent in your request, District staff will complete the form with the floodplain zone and map information, and fax or e-mail it back to you. There is no fee for the floodplain information service.

NOTE: Some cities and towns perform their own floodplain management. Contact the appropriate floodplain agency regarding floodplain questions using the phone numbers listed:
